

This document will be covering the many recently uncovered wrongdoings of Angry Birds brand advisor, and creator of the Angry Birds character “Ruby”, “KrimaDraws”.

The contents of this document contain fetish artwork, some of which being of characters confirmed to be minors. Do not proceed if you wish not to see such.

Quick explanation: KrimaDraws is a prominent figure in the Angry Birds community who has worked with Rovio on numerous occasions, such as the implementation of his (formerly) “Girl Bird” retake in Angry Birds Friends, Angry Birds Bounce, Angry Birds Rush, and other Angry Birds media as of late. He is currently a “Brand Advisor” for Rovio.

(Please keep in mind, that the intent of this document is not to incite harassment towards Krima, but instead to spread awareness of what he's done.)

The information that makes up this document is primarily sourced from Krima's DeviantArt accounts & alternate Twitter account, KrimaBrawls. This Twitter account and its DeviantArt equivalent are primarily centred around artwork revolving around karate.

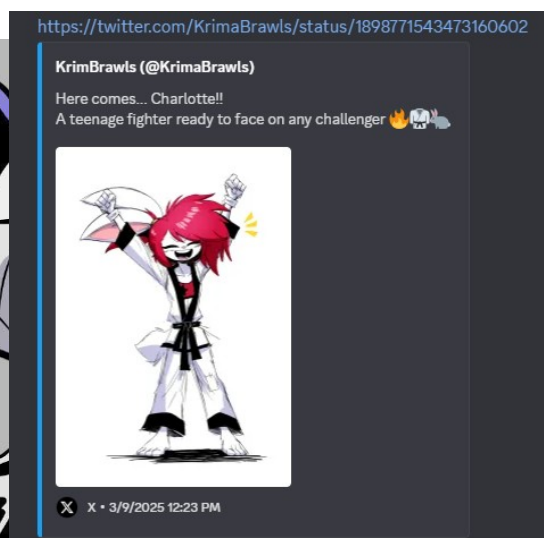

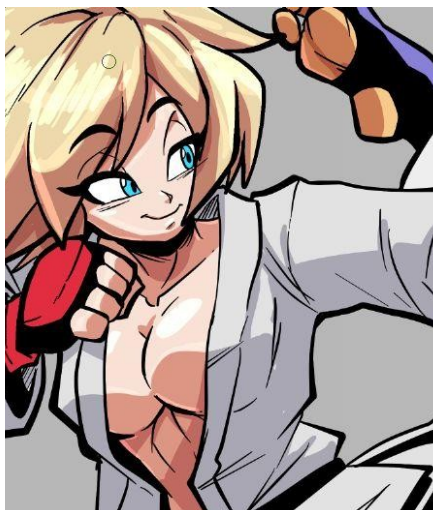

*(<https://twitter.com/KrimaBrawls> | <https://www.deviantart.com/krimabrawls>
<https://www.deviantart.com/krimadraws> | <https://twitter.com/KrimaDraws>)*

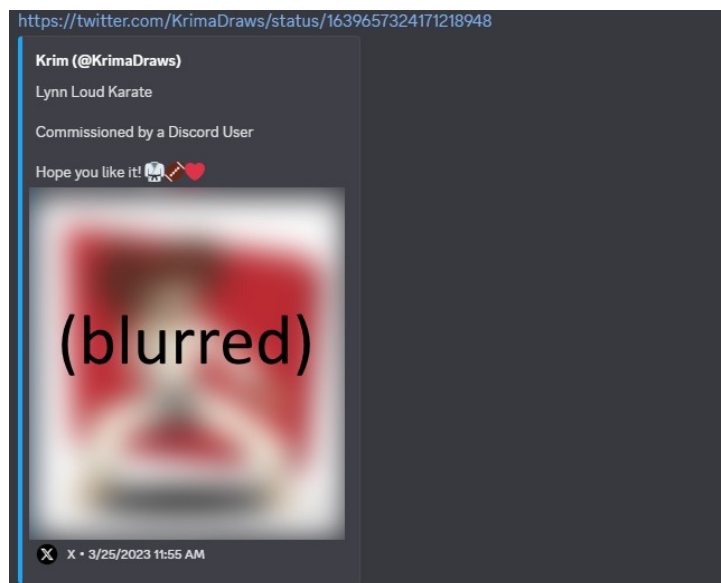

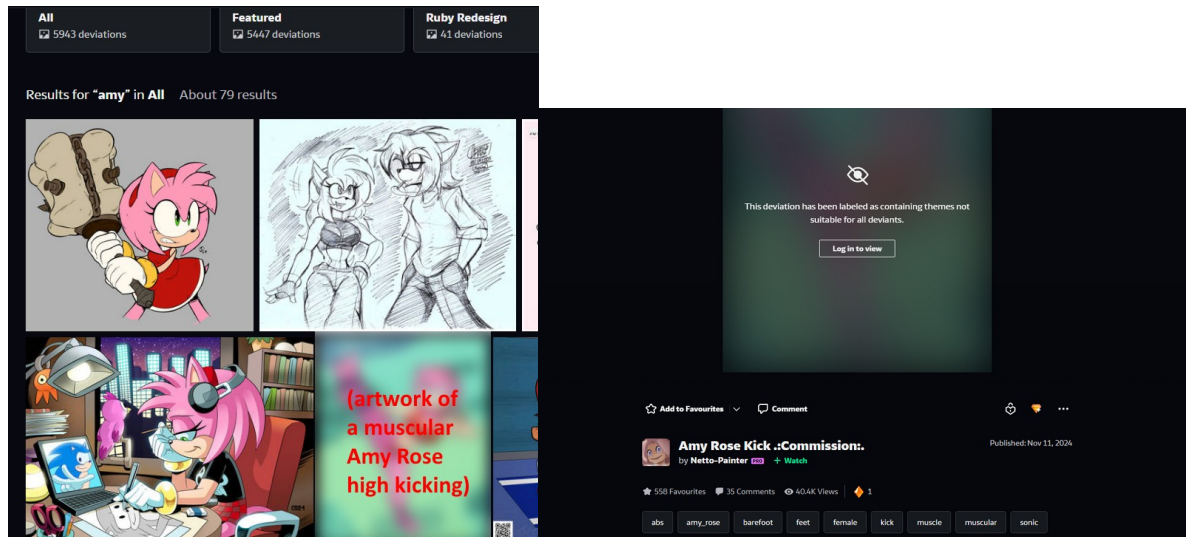

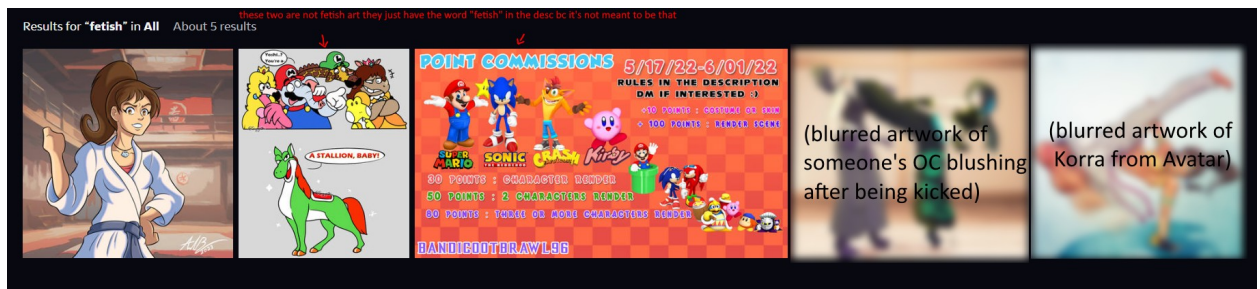

Krima has a tendency to draw or favorite any forms of “karate-related” artwork on his social media accounts, all originally on his main pages before he decided it was prominent enough to the point it required an entire secondary account dedicated to it on Twitter and DeviantArt. An account that directly says in its bio that it may feature “a bit of suggestive art too”.

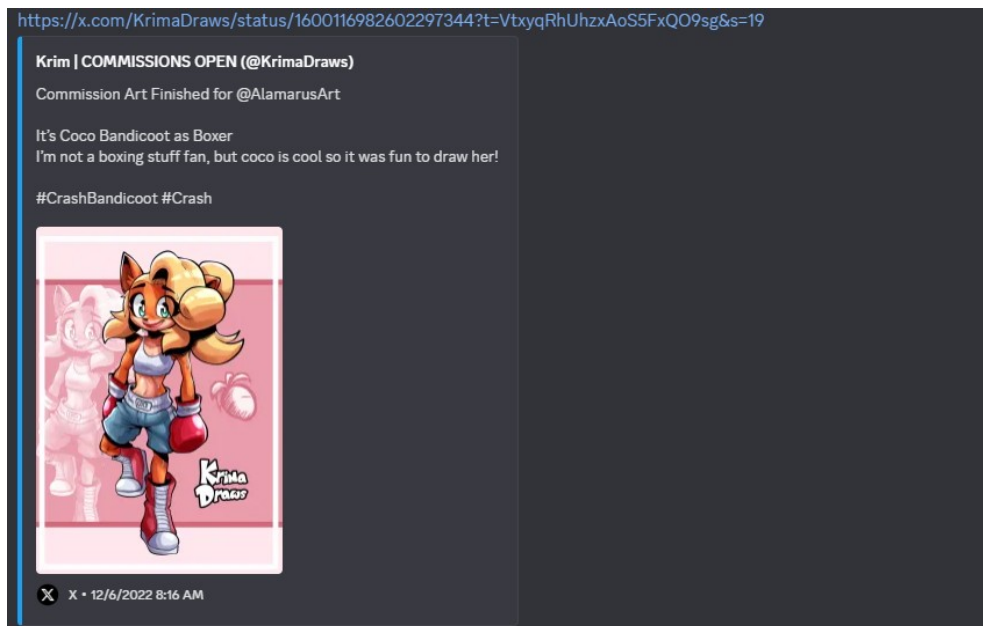

A lot of the artwork on this account features Krima either posting/retweeting drawings of certain fictional characters in karate gear, usually doing a “high-kick” type motion or something adjacent to such. Which varies from characters from well known franchises, or just OC’s of Krima’s.

Here are some examples of artwork Krima has either drawn or shared on these accounts. Some of the artwork featured will be blurred out depending on if the character featured is underage or the general suggestive look of the artwork itself.

The artwork featured on these social media pages not only show multiple examples of canonically underaged characters from The Loud House, Sonic the Hedgehog, Avatar, and Crash Bandicoot doing these same motions and or dressed up in these outfits, but with some of them focusing on more general suggestive elements like exposed breasts and extremely detailed feet, it's not hard to believe at this point that these artworks are made for fetish purposes of some sort, with some of them even being tagged as “not being suitable for all audiences”.

With these key points in mind, it’s very hard to doubt that Krima is attracted to girls fighting in karate outfits, he likes and favorites artwork featuring canonically underaged characters indulging in such activities, while not being into girls in other forms of fighting gear like boxing gloves as expressed in artwork he’s drawn. KrimaDraws has a karate fetish.

Before you ask “What IS a karate fetish?”, though.

A karate fetish despite not being as well known of a fetish as others, it’s still prominent enough to be an entire genre of sorts on sites like Deviantart. This fetish primarily involves the posing and outfits associated with karate, with people in those outfits either beating you up or beating someone else up, or doing general suggestive activities while in said karate gear. Examples of people talking about such fetishes are below.
(partially censored for obvious reasons)

hotkaratewomanlover

...

How weird is it to have a karate fetish, anyone else have one?

For the longest time I've only had a hyper specific fetish; girls doing karate, specifically if they're wearing a white gi and black belt tied around their tight waist. This was first triggered by a very attractive elementary school teacher I had who gave a karate demonstration at a school assembly.

The kiai (HIYAH) noise, the uniform, various roleplay elements, and the karate itself all make it so hot. If you've never had a girl moan HIYAH as she karate chops your torso while riding you, you're missing out.

Yes, I've seen cobra kai and needles to say jerking off to Peyton List, etc in a karate gi is way hotter than porn for me.

I find myself not only turned on by women who do karate IRL but constantly fantasizing about if celebrities and women I know were karate masters (what would Natalie Portman or Jennifer Connelly look like in a white karate gi with a black belt, or what would my crush from calculus or hot neighbor, etc).

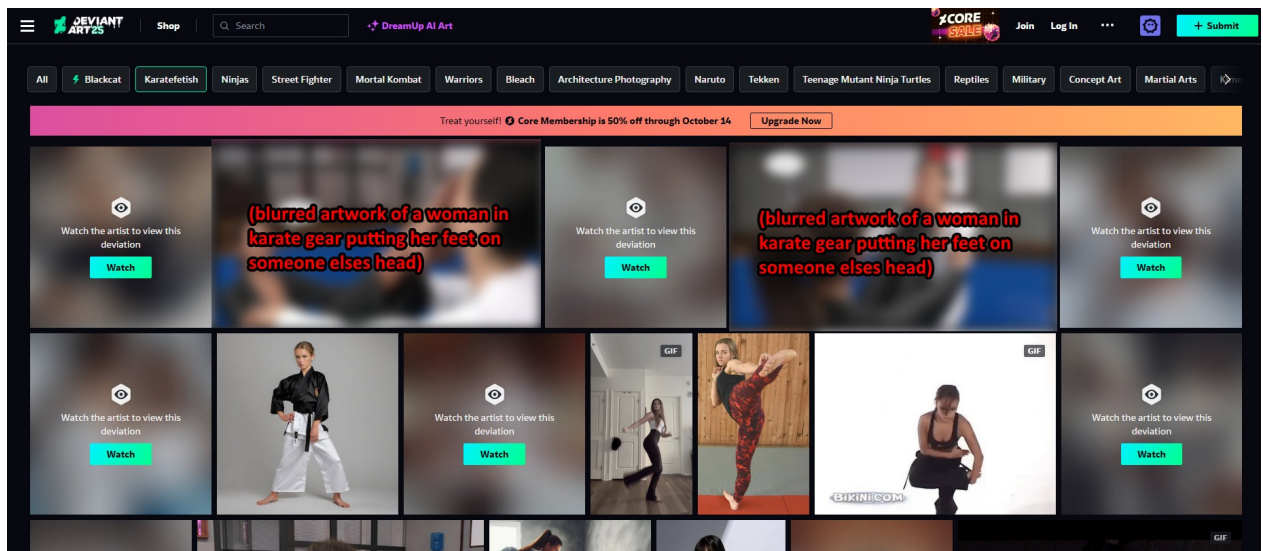

Anyone else have this unusual fetish?

79

41

Share

Join the conversation

https://[redacted], product-category › karate :

Karate - Fetish fights video

Discover a real collection of high-quality, most relevant karate video. The most spectacular videos of where karate fight video on fetish site [redacted]

Reddit · r/MartialFetish
4.4K+ followers

MartialFetish

r/MartialFetish: For those who have or cater to (female) martial arts fetishes! Share/exchange content, promote yourself or others, ...

Specific martial arts fetish

State of the Fetish

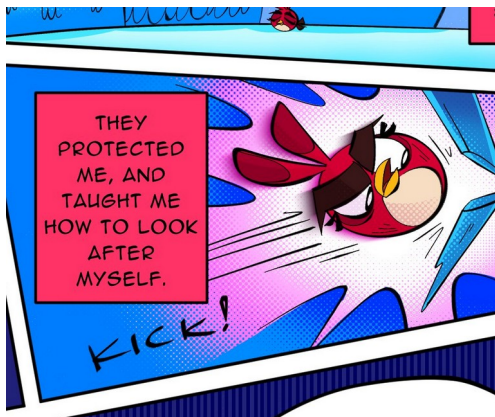

Karate girl facekicks on face

Best

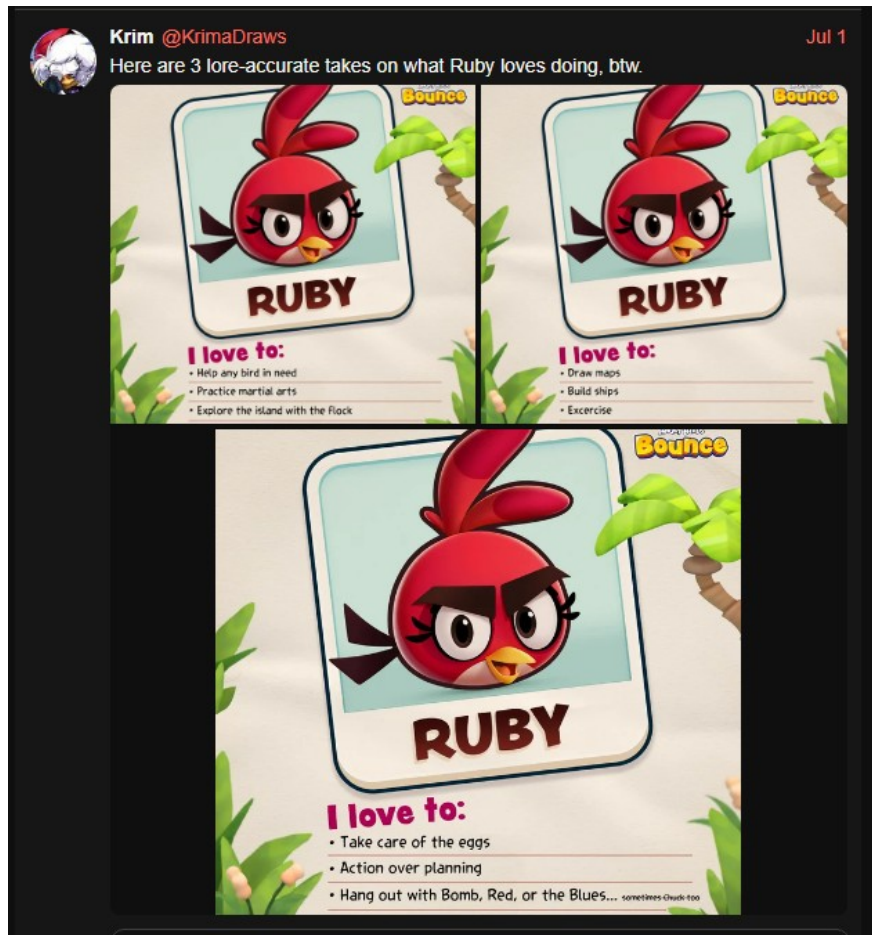

Which brings us to one of the main points about this document.

Ruby.

Ruby is a character originally created by Krima in November 2023 before becoming an official Rovio character in March/April 2024 and later used in official Angry Birds projects, before becoming her own character, she was originally made as a way to re-introduce the “Girl Bird” character, a character who originated in the Angry Birds Seasons episode “Hogs And Kisses” as Red’s girlfriend. A multitude of changes were made to her design and character, the most prominent changes being that she was changed from Red’s girlfriend to Red’s sister, and that her main personality trait is that she is a martial artist. With her consistently doing karate-like moves and wearing outfits of the sort to showcase that trait.

Artworks and images made relating to Ruby since her creation, showing off this personality trait, from Krima's social media, the official Angry Birds social media pages, and the recent "Ruby On Ice" comic.

Krima has also made artwork of Ruby and other Angry Birds characters with more humanoid designs on his social media, also wearing karate outfits and occasionally fighting each other with high-kick motions, while also retweeting artwork NSFW artists have made of those designs with their breasts fully exposed from their outfits.

<https://twitter.com/KrimaBrawls/status/1930074102842175867>

KrimBrawls (@KrimaBrawls)

Karate Ruby

X • 6/3/2025 9:28 PM

With these key points in mind, you can probably connect all of the potential dots together on why this major character trait can be seen as weird and/or disturbing. Ruby is by basic definition, a reflection of Krima as an artist, and how he is as a person. Ruby is now an official Angry Birds character owned by Rovio. A franchise for kids, mind you.

If Ruby is essentially reflecting Krima as an artist/person, then knowing all of this. She is a fetish character, no way around it.

Closing Statement regarding Krima (and Rovio as a whole)

Nobody who's done the things described in this document should be anywhere near a children's franchise. And for that reason, we call on anyone reading this to do their part and spread the word so that he isn't just let off scot-free. We have to make sure that action is taken against Krima and others inside of Rovio to make sure that nothing like this can, could or will happen again. KrimaDraws is a disgusting person who has plugged their own fetishes into a franchise for kids and favorited fetish artwork of underaged characters. No one who thinks that could possibly be okay should be anywhere near this franchise or any franchise alike. We have sadly let an individual like this slip through the cracks and gain a high-ranking position at Rovio, and we have to make sure that Krima faces repercussions for this and nobody like it is let near this franchise. He is unfit for this franchise and hasn't done much outside of making his character, who he uses as an outlet for a fetish, into a canonical and official character. Krima does not belong in a position at Rovio, and we believe that maybe this is a lesson that no other fans should be a part of Rovio either. Are we saying that Rovio should completely halt the mere idea of even interacting with fans? No. But Rovio (and, to be honest, Sega as whole) do not have good experience with hiring fans for the most part and they shouldn't be put in positions of power where they practically make the franchise, regardless of whether or not we choose to interact with said official media.

It gets to a point where you have to ask, does Angry Birds and/or Rovio even need fan output or fans working on official media in the first place knowing this community and its current state? Regardless, all we ask is that Rovio do a better job at performing background checks and looking into fans that they come into contact with more (beyond simply just checking to see if they mindlessly support Rovio or not). Given that the redesign of Ruby became official in >6 months, it's very plain to see that Rovio did not bother to check what Krima does behind the scenes, and for that reason both they (and Krima) must reap the consequences. Rovio needs to make sure to thoroughly check who they hire in future, or the possibility of this happening again could become a reality.

Thank you for reading.

Additional sources:

<https://twitter.com/KrimaBrawls/status/1930074102842175867>

<https://twitter.com/KrimaDraws/status/1639657324171218948>

<https://twitter.com/KrimaBrawls/status/1898771543473160602>

<https://twitter.com/KrimaDraws/status/1975272254805319815>

<https://twitter.com/KrimaDraws/status/1750960183134589235>

<https://twitter.com/KrimaDraws/status/1921239679640207739>

<https://twitter.com/KrimaDraws/status/1940161935171031331>

<https://twitter.com/KrimaDraws/status/1834583524361359636>

<https://www.artstation.com/artwork/BXxRv9>

<https://twitter.com/fellowwulf/status/1930320231622140102>